Medical and dental practices are business enterprises too. Their success depends on an efficient workflow process and a clear outline of the economic data and key figures. However, daily business doesn't often offer the resources required for economical controlling. Especially at a time in which workflows require more and more energy and effort, doctors are greatly challenged as entrepreneurs.

Stay on top of things with Praxis to go®

You will receive – also on your smartphone – access to several digital assistants that enable you to get the economic overview of your practice. The controlling assistants allow – with just one click – the monitoring of your practice's operating figures and to keep track of your practice's development (turnover, expenses) and finances. It's also possible to import your financial accounting data automatically.

The benchmark assistant shows you the productivity and profitability of your practice in comparison to a regional average practice. Further, you can keep track of your liquidity.

With the "Investcheck" you will get reliable information on planned investments, the corresponding amortisation period and what revenues can roughly be expected.

Are you aware of your operational risks? Do you know your hedging status? Our risk analysis calculates a score for your practice risks and identifies hedging opportunities for securing yourself and your practice.

Last but not least, with "Chefsache/business matters" we offer you an economic compendium that answers all your questions related to practice management. The innovative searching tool allows you to save time when expert answers are required. If you are looking for a fast and simple exchange with colleagues and interesting partners, we gladly provide you with a well-developed network.

Praxis to go® assists you to operate successfully and offers useful impulses for your practice management.
